Bat World Sanctuary and its cyber-stalker/ troll

An obsessive, mentally unbalanced cyber-troll in Beverly Hills, California has dedicated much of her life to spreading lies about Randy on the internet and trying to ruin his online reputation in an effort to get revenge for a lawsuit he won against her. It started when Randy agreed to represent Amanda Lollar and Bat World Sanctuary in a lawsuit against a person who calls herself "Mary Cummins" aka "Mary Cummins-Cobb" aka "Maria Rivera" aka "MaryQueenofScoots," etc. Bat World Sanctuary is the world's largest rescue/rehabilitation/teaching sanctuary dedicated exclusively to bats. Amanda Lollar, its founder and president, is an internationally renowned bat expert, rehabilitator, and author of 7 books, including the definitive medical reference book on insectivorous bats that is used worldwide by veterinarians and wildlife centers. Bat World and Amanda have appeared on the Discovery Channel, 20/20 Downtown, Animal Planet, Nickelodeon, the CBS Early Show, and Late Night with David Letterman. In 2005 Amanda Lollar received the Doris Day Kindred Spirit Award, and in 2008 she was a Top Ten Animal Planet Hero of the Year Finalist. In 2013 Bat World was listed as number one in an article entitled "10 Amazing Wild Animal Sanctuaries You Should Support," by www.onegreenplanet.org. Amanda has twice been nominated for the prestigious Indianapolis Prize, the world's top award for animal conservation.

Mary Cummins, contrary to what she says on her websites, has admitted in federal lawsuit documents that she is "unemployed" and "does not own a business or company." Indeed, she once candidly revealed on the internet that her actual occupation is "causing havoc on the web." Because Cummins apparently comes from a wealthy family and is unemployed her victims believe she is a trust fund beneficiary and/or lives on an inheritance. This is probably true since "causing havoc on the web" is not an occupation that typically generates much income. Mary Cummins also likes to refer to herself as "president" of something she calls "Animal Advocates," some sort of entity that was suspended by the State of California several years ago. She says its address is a small shack she lives in. In addition to writing hundreds of blogs attacking her victims and filing lawsuits against them, Mary Cummins spends her days making YouTube videos that show her clutching baby animals such as a squirrel, opossum, or a sick raccoon with her bare hands. The animals are often screaming.

Defamation of Randy's client

---> Fifty-nine-year-old Mary Cummins briefly interned at Bat World in 2010 but apparently found the work too challenging to complete and left the internship early and disgruntled. Unfortunately, at that time Bat World did not do background checks on people who applied for internships and was completely unaware of the numerous websites and blogs that others had created about this disturbed individual (see last paragraph below.) A powerful lesson was learned. Mary Cummins immediately began posting copyrighted photos and proprietary information on the internet without Bat World's permission and in violation of her internship contract. When she refused to remove the proprietary material from the internet Randy agreed to take the case pro bono and filed a lawsuit against Mary Cummins of "Animal Advocates." Mary Cummins was outraged over being sued and retaliated by inventing horrific lies about Amanda Lollar and posting them all over the internet, falsely accusing her of being cruel to animals, practicing veterinary medicine without a license, getting sanctioned by animal regulatory authorities, losing her USDA permit, murdering her baby, and countless other outlandish lies. It is important to note that Cummins did not concoct any of these lies until several months after she was sued. She feverishly began creating hundreds of blogs attacking and defaming Amanda. Mary Cummins also started filing repeated complaints against Amanda Lollar with state and federal law enforcement and animal regulatory agencies. Again, this barrage of false complaints only began after she was sued, in retaliation for the lawsuit. Needless to say, Amanda Lollar and Bat World were completely exonerated by all resulting investigations--the investigative reports may be viewed at Bat World's website. The Texas Department of Parks and Wildlife got so tired of investigating Mary Cummins' baseless allegations that their attorney finally told her they would no longer respond to her complaints about Amanda and Bat World.

The cyber-stalker's own attorney tells the court she lied

Mary Cummins initially had a lawyer but he withdrew from the case early in the litigation after informing the court that Cummins had lied and her "wild claims are false." Mary Cummins even claimed that Randy had physically "assaulted" her during her video-recorded deposition while her lawyer was "asleep." This absurd accusation was refuted by her lawyer and disproved by the court reporter's sworn affidavit as well as the video. Cummins refused to consent to her lawyer withdrawing from the case but, after a court hearing in which her lawyer described Mary Cummins' bizarre claims and lies, the judge allowed him to withdraw. When Mary Cummins realized that a video recording and the court reporter's affidavit proved that Randy did not touch her during the deposition she decided to start blogging that Randy had "intentionally bumped his entire body into mine" at the courthouse. Cummins fabricated this story because, unlike the fiction she had made up about the deposition, there was no video that would prove she was lying and she could simply claim there were no witnesses. These are just two of the many lies that Mary Cummins of "Animal Advocates" and "Cummins Real Estate Services" has concocted about Randy and spread across the internet to get revenge against him.

$6.1 million judgment against Mary Cummins of "Cummins Real Estate Services"

During a 4 day trial in June 2012 highly trained expert veterinarians, wildlife rehabilitators and other experts from around the United States testified that Amanda Lollar's knowledge, care, and treatment of bats are the gold standard among wildlife rehabilitators. Witness after witness testified about Amanda's love, devotion and compassion toward animals and totally disproved each and every hideous lie that Mary Cummins had spread across the internet. After listening to all of the witnesses, viewing videos, and scientific literature, and after considering Mary Cummins' testimony as well as her "evidence," Judge Bill Brigham not only found that Cummins' accusations against Amanda Lollar were completely false but that her lies were "egregious as well as malicious as well as intentional." He further stated on the record that Amanda Lollar is to bats what Jane Goodall is to primates. He ordered Mary Cummins of "Animal Advocates" and "Cummins Real Estate Services" to pay $6.1 million in actual and punitive damages as well as attorney's fees (read Star-Telegram article.) He also ordered Cummins to remove the defamation from the internet. Mary Cummins has not yet paid the entire judgment and, because of constantly accruing post-judgment interest, she still owes $6.5 million.

Cummins' internet attack campaigns

Following the trial the cyber-stalker/ troll launched comprehensive internet attack campaigns smearing everyone she apparently now blames for her miseries--Randy, Amanda Lollar, Judge Brigham, Judge Sudderth, Eric Shupps \(the IT expert who testified at trial\), and even the process server who served her with the lawsuit papers. Mary Cummins later added Amanda's California lawyers and two California judges to her obsessive vendetta. She has created countless websites, blogs, and social media pages designed to destroy these people's reputations and ruin them on the internet. One of Mary Cummins' attack strategies is to publish as much personal information as she is able to dig up about her victims and their families, along with her nasty commentary about that information. Here is a small sampling of the personal information about Cummins' victims that she has dug up and posted on the internet:

Her victims' home addresses; dates of birth; their children's names, birth dates and school district; their spouses' names, birth dates and employers; monthly income; information about their parents; a brother's suicide; court records from a bankruptcy 26 years ago; food preferences; marriage and divorce information; schools attended; non-profit boards that a spouse serves on; amount of home mortgage payments, property taxes, insurance, and utilities; bank records; a judge's personal hobby; high school yearbook photographs; names of siblings; home remodeling photos; property values; veterinary records of pets; and many other items of personal information.

Mary Cummins obsessively trolls the internet, day and night, looking for blogs, news stories, and discussions where she can post hateful, vicious comments about her victims. This cyber-stalker/troll ominously broadcast over the internet that she has Amanda's social security number. (Amanda has safeguards in place in case Cummins' plan is to sell it to the highest bidder or use it to commit identity theft.) Mary Cummins posted on the internet that Randy's son is adopted. Of course there is only one reason why a person would do this. Fortunately, Randy's son already knew he was adopted. When Mary Cummins was unable to dig up any "dirt" on Randy, she concocted outrageous, bizarre, and sometimes despicable lies about him and posted them all over blogs, websites, and social media pages.

Mary Cummins' occupation: "causing havoc on the web"

Mary Cummins has described her occupation as "causing havoc on the web." Since Cummins is unemployed and does not own a business or company she is able to devote her life to this peculiar occupation by endlessly spewing hate and lies about her victims with her daily blogs. Mary Cummins uses her skills as a professional search engine optimizer to make sure the blogs and pages she creates attacking her victims appear high in search engine results. For example, the entire bottom half of her pages consists of dozens of strategically selected key words and phrases. She also inserts high value key words into her page titles, descriptions, and HTML and links the pages to each other. These SEO techniques insure that Cummins' attack pages and blogs appear at or near the top of Google searches, thus inflicting maximum possible damage to her victims' online reputations. She even included Russian words in a blog about one of her victims who is married to a Russian so that her attacks on him will be read in his wife's home country by her friends and relatives. She does not worry about being sued for defamation because she mistakenly thinks she knows how to hide her money from judgment creditors after being hit with a $6.1 million court judgment for defamation. (Cummins recently failed in her desperate attempt to block a subpoena that has been issued for her bank records.)

Wikipedia blocks Mary Cummins

Wikipedia got so fed up with this cyber-troll's repeated attempts to smear Amanda on their site that they blocked her from posting anything on Wikipedia about Amanda Lollar or Bat World. Of course Mary Cummins was livid. She angrily railed at a Wikipedia administrator, "Why are you stalking me here? I need a copy of the page you deleted." (It seems that everyone Mary Cummins comes into contact with "stalks" her, "harasses" her, "defames" her, or all three. (See below). This is breathtakingly ironic coming from a woman who stalks her victims' emails (see next paragraph), files police reports against them, creates countless blogs attacking them, sues them, and was ordered by a court to pay $6.1 million for "egregious and malicious" defamation.) During one of her rants against Wikipedia Mary Cummins inexplicably started yammering about her sister doing "some crappy horror movies." Wikipedia responded to her nonsensical ravings by telling her: "It doesn't seem like you're getting the message: let me see if I can phrase it more clearly. You have agreed to post nowhere on Wikipedia, whether on an article, a talk page, a user page, anywhere, about this issue and these people," and "A very quick way to earn a permanent block would be to get someone to be your stalking horse and do so for you," and "Wikipedia is not your version of the truth; You have a bias and you are unable to overcome your bias." After heated arguments and Mary Cummins' grudging promise to stop posting about Amanda and Bat World Wikipedia finally agreed to unblock her. In one last jab Mary Cummins snapped at the administrator, "I am not posting about BWS on wiki. Enough said, buddy."

Stalking her victims' emails

Mary Cummins uses advanced cyber-stalking technology to secretly track her victims' locations and identify the computers they are using when they read their emails. She also tracks the personal emails that her victims send to others so she can learn the identities of the recipients of those emails. In an attempt to intimidate her current victims with her email-stalking abilities Cummins posted the following on the internet:

"After I sent (an email) to Randy Turner he read it on his iPhone in Lindale, Texas. He then forwarded it to Amanda Lollar in Mineral Wells, Texas nine minutes later. Amanda Lollar sent it to her other ISP then she sent it to Randy Turner who read it on his iPhone and then he read it on his desktop at his house. Then Dean Rocco (Amanda's California attorney) opened it this morning in L.A. He then replied to Randy Turner who opened it on his desktop at Bailey & Galyen and back again."

"Amanda Lollar has been emailing her attorney Randy Turner about this today back and forth a few times. Amanda emails him at night. He of course reads her email at 8:00 p.m. while he's at home."

Secretly stalking people's emails is only one small example of the extreme lengths to which this mentally unhinged individual will go in her obsessive pursuit of her victims. Counter measures have been implemented by her current victims to prevent Mary Cummins from stalking future emails, hacking into or infecting their computers with viruses, or stealing their identities.

Blackmailing a philanthropist?

Mary Cummins of "Animal Advocates" and "Cummins Real Estate Services" does not limit her obsessive internet attacks to those with whom she is involved in litigation. For reasons unknown, in the fall of 2013 the cyber-stalker unleashed a global internet smear campaign, which now includes over 150 blogs, furiously attacking Gary Michelson, a well-known philanthropist and friend of animals who founded the Found Animals Foundation. Mary Cummins blathered about the shape of his head and called him "an insecure deeply troubled pathological megalomaniac with sadistic tendencies." (According to Cummins, virtually all of her victims are mentally ill.) In the middle of one 27-page rambling attack on Michelson she strangely started babbling about tampons and having to "go back to pads or I'll be forced to get a tattoo..." Then she oddly included a five-step diagram showing how to insert a tampon. As usual, one of her main harassment techniques was to publicize as much personal information about her victim and his family as she was able to dig up, along with her usual nasty commentary about that information. She posted Michelson's family tree; information about his grandparents and where they immigrated from; his parents and their divorce; her theories about his sexual orientation; his mother's remarriage; his wife; child; brothers; stepsisters; birth dates; his upbringing; extracurricular activities and social life while in high school; his mannerisms; religion and ethnicity; copies of his medical and pilot's licenses; his high school yearbook photo; his dog's name; etc. etc. Because of Gary Michelson's prominence, Cummins' history of suing for millions of dollars, and the fact that she has no discernible source of income, many of her victims are convinced that her motive is to blackmail him into paying her money to remove her attack blogs from the internet.

Attacking animal rescue organizations

In early winter of 2013 the cyber-stalker/ troll launched a vicious internet attack on the head of a non-profit organization called "Never Cry Wolf Sanctuary." According to their website they "rescue and nurture wolves and wolf-hybrids that have been abused or abandoned." Mary Cummins decided to furiously attack this person in her blogs, accusing him of "lies and fraud," being a "con man," "defaming and libeling me," etc. In other words, the standard Mary Cummins vitriol; only her victim's name had changed.

This troubled cyber-stalker's last victim in 2013 was the founder and chairman of Wildhorse Ranch Rescue, a non-profit organization whose mission is "to save animals from abuse, neglect, slaughter and premature death and provide a safe place for them to live the remainder of their lives." A few days before Christmas Mary Cummins debuted a fierce attack campaign against the founder and her organization, spewing her usual venomous lies (they "promote animal cruelty," "defame me," commit "tax evasion," etc.)

One of Mary Cummins' most recent victims is the head of an organization called "The Cathouse on the Kings," whose website says they are "California's largest no-cage, no-kill lifetime cat sanctuary and adoption center." The reasons for Cummins' internet attack on this person are unknown.

The cyber-troll began 2014 with an all-out internet attack on a non-profit organization known as "The Gentle Barn." It is "A Sanctuary Where Animals Heal and Children Learn to Hope." Cummins accused them of the usual "donor fraud," "corruption," "labor law violations," etc.

Most of Mary Cummins' non-lawsuit victims are associated with animal welfare in some way. Although no one can be certain how she selects her non-lawsuit victims for internet attacks or what her motives are, the prevailing theory among amateur psychologists is that she targets people who help animals because she envies and resents the public recognition and respect they receive. According to this theory, Mary Cummins is driven by chronic feelings of inadequacy and pathological jealousy. Of course, this was the case with her original attack on world-renowned Amanda Lollar and Bat World. This theory could also explain Mary Cummins' strange need to make YouTube videos of herself clutching screaming baby animals with her bare hands-- sort of a desperate plea to "Look at me, I can rescue animals too!!" Another popular theory is that unemployed Mary Cummins is simply a 59-year-old, unmedicated sociopath, consumed with hate, who sits in front of a computer 16 hours a day trying to destroy people who help animals.

Attacking her own (dead?) mother

Even Mary Cummins' own mother is not immune from her vindictive smear campaigns. In winter of 2013 Cummins decided to roll out a blistering internet attack on her mother, accusing her of "fraud," being a "tax cheat," "property tax fraud," "stealing," "forgery" (another one of her favorite accusations), "making illegal and unpermitted" additions to her home, etc., etc. Clinical psychologists can only speculate as to why Mary Cummins felt compelled to let the world know how much she hates her mother right before the holidays. Interestingly, prior to this vicious attack Cummins had claimed that her mother was dead and that Amanda had "pretended to be my dead mother." This is an ominous sign of delusional pathology. A team of volunteer amateur psychologists has methodically researched and studied Mary Cummins on the internet. After scientifically analyzing their findings they diagnosed three pathological conditions listed in the DSM-5 (Diagnostic and Statistical Manual of Mental Disorders). Their diagnoses are expertly documented and discussed in detail in a fascinating book Amanda is writing about Mary Cummins entitled "The Self-Destruction of a Morbid Cyber-Stalker." (Volume One is expected to be released in late summer 2014.) Sadly, on Thanksgiving Day 2013 when most normal people were enjoying time with their families Mary Cummins spent the day feverishly creating a new rambling blog attacking Amanda, her husband, Randy, a retired police officer in Pennsylvania, and an artist in New York, accusing all of them of "supporting animal cruelty," being "mentally ill," and "harassing, stalking and defaming me." Alas, Mary Cummins' regular victims--Amanda, her husband and Randy--are all too familiar with these standard ad nauseam accusations which are straight out of the cyber-stalker's playbook. Unfortunately, the police officer and the artist will have to learn how to live with being viciously attacked and defamed on the internet.

Stalking a war hero in a nursing home?

During a deposition this malicious cyber-stalker/ troll repeatedly asked Amanda where her elderly father lived and which nursing home he was in. Amanda, quite understandably, repeatedly refused to tell her. This caused Mary Cummins to angrily announce in frustration, "I reserve the right to depose Ms. Lollar again to get the name of the nursing home!!!" After the deposition Mary Cummins went back inside her shack and bizarrely posted on the internet, "I have no desire to harass her dad in a nursing home. I've known where he is living for over a year." Amanda's father had absolutely nothing to do with Mary Cummins or the lawsuit. Major Luther Lollar was a kind and gentle man, quietly spending the last part of his life in a nursing home. He was a highly decorated WWII and Vietnam combat veteran who had saved the lives of many fellow soldiers in battle. He was a true American hero and he was none of Mary Cummins' business. Why did this cyber-stalker want to know where Amanda's dad lived? Why did she go to the trouble a year earlier to find out where he lived? Mary Cummins' sinister announcement that she knew his location was clearly intended as a threat. This deranged cyber-stalker's sick obsession with Amanda's loving, vulnerable father terrified Amanda, especially given another unrelated post where Mary Cummins crowed, "I have a gun with hollow points; I bought this one for shooting at close range; I can instantly drop someone with this gun and these bullets." Amanda had no way of knowing what this depraved lunatic had in mind for her disabled dad.

Punishing the Texas judge

This cyber-stalker/ troll does not tolerate judges who rule against it. Even the highly-respected judge who presided over the Texas trial did not escape her rage. In addition to fiercely attacking Judge Brigham on the internet, Mary Cummins publicly posted a six-page rambling complaint that she said she filed against him with the Texas State Commission on Judicial Conduct almost a year after the trial. Cummins' complaint was nothing more than another one of her sociopathic screeds, full of lies intended to ruin the judge. Needless to say, after investigating her frivolous complaint, the Judicial Commission promptly dismissed it. As usual, this caused the cyber-stalker to ramp up her vicious smear campaign against the judge to punish him for ruling against her. In addition to publishing new information and commentary about Judge Brigham's marriage and divorce, Mary Cummins' blogs blather about him "cheating in court," "committing fraud upon the court," etc. and being "unethical, disgusting, and horrible." It should be noted that Judge Brigham has served as an FBI agent, county judge, district judge, and court of appeals justice and has received numerous prestigious awards recognizing his integrity, knowledge of the law and distinguished service as a jurist.

Punishing California Judge Goodson

Mary Cummins of "Animal Advocates" and "Cummins Real Estate Services" also launched an extensive internet smear campaign against California Judge Carol Goodson who denied her ridiculous application for a "restraining order" against Amanda. (See below). Cummins created a blog about the judge and published as much personal information about the judge's family as she was able to dig up, including information about the judge's father, husband, ex-husband, her daughter's name and date of birth, a link to the judge's financial records online, the judge's income, information about the judge's ex-husband's new wife and daughter and their horse hobby, and much much more. Mary Cummins said the judge is "evil" and "crazy." As usual--and consistent with her standard tactic of filing complaints against her victims with government agencies--Cummins announced that she will "make a report to the judicial commission." Like her complaints against Judge Brigham and Amanda it will be thrown out, of course, but that doesn't matter to the cyber-stalker because the purpose is to exact revenge by harassing the judge and destroying her reputation.

Punishing California Judge Hess

When the sheriff seized one of the cyber-troll's bank accounts to pay part of the $6.4M she owes Amanda Lollar Cummins filed a frivolous motion in the California court to stop the money from going to Amanda. After patiently listening to Mary Cummins' nonsensical harangue, Judge Robert Hess denied her motion, which prompted Cummins to quickly drive back to her shack and launch her routine internet attack campaign against this judge. She prefaced her diatribe by saying, "In my years as a pro se (litigant) I have learned a lot about the 'justice' system." Then Mary Cummins fulminated about how the judicial system is "corrupt," "crazy," and "f...d up" and how Judge Hess "hates minorities, women, poor people, homosexuals and pro se's." And, of course, Cummins accused the judge of suffering from a "mental illness." In other words, it was the standard Mary Cummins drive. Her attack on the judicial system was quite ironic coming from someone who files so many frivolous lawsuits (see next three paragraphs.)

Frivolous lawsuits in federal court

This unemployed cyber-stalker/ troll is extremely litigious and quickly started filing frivolous lawsuits against Amanda Lollar to get revenge. Of course no lawyer will represent Mary Cummins in these personal vendettas but, because she has been involved in over 20 lawsuits around the U.S. and has been sued at least four times for defamation, she is savvy enough to act as her own lawyer. In fact, Mary Cummins boasts (falsely) on her blog, "I always represent myself and I always win." She filed a federal lawsuit in California against Amanda Lollar and three of her previous victims from many years ago along with ten anonymous "John Does," alleging defamation and various idiotic legal theories she most likely found by doing a Google search. Incredibly, she even sued an IT expert who had testified against her at trial, claiming he "defamed" her and "inflicted emotional distress" on her. (His trial testimony actually was very compelling and probably did cause her some distress.) As usual, her retaliation lawsuit against this expert witness was quickly thrown out by the judge. And although Mary Cummins also tried desperately to convince the judge that her lawsuit against Amanda Lollar and her other victims was not frivolous her entire lawsuit was summarily thrown out of court. All of her frivolous claims against all victims were dismissed. She tried to appeal the judge's ruling but the Court of Appeals dismissed her frivolous appeal.

Because her harassment lawsuit against Amanda was a loser, Mary Cummins decided to file a second retaliation lawsuit in California federal court against Amanda Lollar. In this second case she added 15 new defendants--some of whom were on Bat World's board of directors and others no one has ever heard of--claiming that she had been wronged in various ways while she was at Bat World. One of her sillier allegations was that she had bumped her head while trying to climb through a window at Bat World almost two years earlier and it was somehow the fault of these 15 people who were not even in the same city when it supposedly happened. After ruling that Mary Cummins had acted in "bad faith" the judge threw out all of her nonsensical allegations in this second frivolous lawsuit and then transferred her bump-on-the-head claim to a Texas court. Mary Cummins of Animal Advocates is demanding $500,000 in her head-bump lawsuit for her supposed "injuries." The Texas judge, on his own and without being asked, promptly dismissed 13 of her victims from the lawsuit. Fortunately, Cummins' imbecilic head-bump lawsuit against Amanda and two others is going to be dismissed by summary judgment so that the court's time will not be wasted on a trial.

Frivolous lawsuits in state court

Predictably, not long after her first two frivolous lawsuits against Amanda Lollar were tossed out of California federal court Mary Cummins decided to try her luck in state court and filed a third harassment lawsuit against Amanda to get revenge, this time in California superior court. As expected, after patiently listening to Mary Cummins try to justify her third ridiculous lawsuit in which she requested a "restraining order" against Amanda Lollar--who lives over 1,000 miles away in Texas--the superior court judge not only threw it out, she also ordered Cummins to pay Amanda's lawyers over $6,300 in attorney's fees for having to waste their time on such a frivolous lawsuit. The fact that the judge ordered her to pay the other side's attorney's fees speaks volumes, since judges normally only do this in the most blatant cases of lawsuit abuse. Serial litigants like Mary Cummins who use the legal system to harass their victims inevitably end up paying a high price for their malevolence. Of course the cyber-stalker was outraged and within hours after the court's ruling, she was back at her computer, savagely attacking and smearing the judge and posting personal information about the judge's family on the internet. It seems she didn't appreciate the judge throwing out her lawsuit and telling her to "get out there and start working to pay the judgment." In what Mary Cummins' victims would call a gross understatement, the judge also informed her that both she and her application for a restraining order against Amanda were "annoying." As usual after losing, the cyber-stalker filed her standard frivolous "motion to reconsider" and motion to disqualify the judge. (Mary Cummins always waits until after judges rule against her before deciding they were unqualified to preside over her lawsuits.) And as usual, her frivolous motions were denied...which prompted Mary Cummins to quickly drive back to her shack and post that the judge has "major mental issues." Cummins then launched an elaborate internet smear campaign against Judge Goodson and Amanda's California attorney and began posting on the internet all the personal information she was able to dig up about their families and children.

Suing her neighbor, Los Angeles, and the CEO of Google

Unemployed Mary Cummins of Animal Advocates has been filing bizarre lawsuits against her victims in state courts for many years, presumably in hopes that one of them will hit the jackpot so she can move out of her little shack without having to get a job. (It will have to be a really large jackpot now because Amanda is entitled to the first $6.5 million of her winnings.) The following are just a few examples of her lawsuits: Mary Cummins once sued her neighbor, claiming he "took a sledge hammer to my house, stalked my husband and me, tried to stab my husband with a machete, and stabbed the hedge trimmers through the fence at me." On another occasion, when she discovered something about herself on the internet she didn't like, she actually sued the CEO of Google and tried to get a restraining order against him personally, claiming he was hosting blogs that were "harassing, libelous, and defamatory." Of course the court denied her ludicrous request. Mary Cummins even sued the City of Los Angeles claiming, among other things, "sexual harassment" and "interference with business relations" (this is one of her favorite nonsensical allegations that she likes to put in her lawsuits). Cummins apparently hoped to finally get rich quick with that ridiculous lawsuit by claiming "general damages" of "$1-2 million." Needless to say, her lawsuit didn't quite work out the way she hoped and the unemployed cyber-stalker now lives in a small shack and says she is "indigent" with a "net worth less than zero" at the age of 59. Interestingly, Mary Cummins did not try to get a restraining order against a man who, she claims, threatened to cut off her husband's penis. (She later admitted under oath that she was never married.) The list of insanity goes on and on and would take up too many pages to recount here.

Psychotic babbling

Angry and frustrated after losing all of her lawsuits, Mary Cummins' accusations against Amanda Lollar have literally become psychotic. Cummins' latest lunatic ravings about her victims on the internet and in a sworn deposition include the following public statements. In the textbook fashion of a narcissistic sociopath she claims to be victimized by the multitude.

EVIL AMANDA : "Amanda murdered her baby;" and "she posts pornography;" "the police actually told me to shoot her dead;" she "committed crimes" by "ordering a hit on me" by a "paid thug, by "committing identity theft," "forgery," and "extortion," by repeatedly telephoning me with "death threats" after getting drunk on beer, and by "encouraging convicted criminals to attack me;" "Amanda tried to break into my bank account;" I am "living in fear" that "Amanda will have someone burn down my house and kill my animals;" "she pretended to be my dead mother;" Amanda is "unethical, disgusting and horrible;" and "she will soon be arrested."

FRAUD: "Judge Brigham committed fraud upon the court;" my mother committed "fraud;" the head of a wolf sanctuary "committed fraud;" the director of a humane society committed "fraud;" a California lawyer committed "fraud;" the head of an animal welfare foundation "committed fraud;" a sanctuary where animals heal and children learn "committed donor fraud;" the famous inventor of medical devices "committed fraud."

DEFAMATION: "An IT expert defamed me;" the head of a horse rescue organization "defames me;" ten "John Does defamed me;" Amanda "defames me;" the head of a California wildlife sanctuary "defamed me;" a person in Pennsylvania was "defaming me;" Randy "defames me;" the CEO of Google hosted blogs about me that "defamed me;" an animal rehabilitator in California "defamed me;" a business systems analyst/project manager "defamed me;" an attorney in Los Angeles "defamed me;" a newspaper reporter "defamed me;" a woman in New York was "defaming me;" a retired international project manager "defamed me."

False police reports

Sometimes instead of—or in addition to—suing her hapless victims Mary Cummins reports them to the police for "stalking" and "cyber-stalking" her like she did with a prominent California attorney, a well-known Los Angeles newspaper editorial writer, and most recently, Amanda Lollar. Not surprisingly, after the cyber-stalker's frivolous lawsuits against Amanda Lollar were thrown out and efforts were underway to collect the millions she owes Amanda, Cummins frantically resumed her favorite attack strategy of repeatedly filing false police reports about her victim with the FBI, the Los Angeles Police Department and various other law enforcement agencies around the U.S. Fortunately, it seems that the law enforcement agencies are completely fed up with this cyber-stalker's insane histrionics and are now ignoring her (see next paragraph).

Threats to kill Amanda Lollar

The apparently delusional mental state of Mary Cummins of "Cummins Real Estate Services" as seen in her frenetic internet postings indicates that she may be seriously mentally ill, unmedicated, and potentially dangerous. While obsessing on Amanda this deranged cyber-stalker posted on the internet: "The police actually told me to shoot her dead." (It is unknown if this is the same police department that "thinks Amanda is a lesbian.") She has also posted, "I went through the police academy, took the gun class, I've been going to the range." In response to her lunatic ravings about shooting Amanda, her internet followers posted things like, "Mary whatever you do...if you shoot her make sure you shoot to kill;" "Take that menace to society down;" "It's 9 mm time;" "She needs to be held underwater for about an hour;" and "Someone needs to throw water balloons filled with urine at her." It should be noted that, with the exception of a few deranged psychopaths, most of these internet "followers" who are encouraging her to commit murder are believed to actually be Mary Cummins herself using fake identities. Mary Cummins proudly—and ludicrously—proclaimed that Amanda Lollar "will soon be arrested." However, a short time later Cummins posted that when she went to the police and was unable to talk to a detective about Amanda Lollar, "I refused to leave the police station," and "I will try internal affairs." Police departments always attract crazies and the Los Angeles Police Department obviously figured out long ago what they were dealing with. Mary Cummins' threat to go to "internal affairs" is a sure sign that she is going to sue the city again if they do not arrest or kill Amanda Lollar soon. This pathological Beverly Hills woman (who, by the way, thinks she is actor Charlie Sheen's "neighbor" and posts photographs of Jennifer Aniston's house and obsesses about her on Facebook, Google, blogs, Twitter, etc.) seems to believe that if she files enough frivolous lawsuits and false police reports, and if she spreads enough lies all over the internet something is eventually bound to stick, enabling her to finally destroy Amanda Lollar—a selfless woman who has devoted her entire life and virtually all of her worldly possessions to rescuing, rehabilitating, and caring for her beloved animals in Mineral Wells, Texas.

Other victims of Mary Cummins

Mary Cummins of Animal Advocates and Cummins Real Estate Services is obsessive, vindictive and relentless. She has been attacking and smearing countless victims on the internet, posting personal information about them and their families, filing police reports against them, and suing them for many, many years. The federal and state courts are obviously tired of her endless frivolous lawsuits, motions and appeals. Chronic lawsuit abusers like Mary Cummins clog up the courts and prevent legitimate cases from being heard. When she has been sued by her victims she has claimed that she couldn't be held liable by courts because they didn't have "jurisdiction" over her. However, when Mary Cummins tried to sell that asinine argument to a Texas judge it fell flat and she wound up owing her victim $6.1 million, plus $25,000 per month interest as long as the judgment remains unpaid. Numerous websites and blogs about Mary Cummins have been created by her victims over the years. They have been pushed way down in Google and other search engine results, most likely due to extensive search engine optimization by the cyber-stalker. Here are just a few of them:

Unfortunately, the current laws are inadequate to deal with mentally troubled deviants like Mary Cummins of Animal Advocates who use the internet to destroy others. Defamation lawsuits may be filed and won but cyber-stalkers can simply hide their assets, ignore the court judgments, and keep on telling lies about their victims on the internet.

1. ALL discovery must be under seal. It can only be used in court documents and hearings, trial. If used in court documents, that document must be under seal. There must be a huge sanction if the protective order is violated. Lollar does not have to admit that she violated the protective order in order to be found in contempt. I have abided by all of the previous court's protective orders. Your client violated every single one!

2. I will not sign a blanket release of medical or financial documents. Your client illegally has my social security number. She already got a copy of my driver's license in discovery besides my place of birth, parents, family members.... She already illegally used that data to try to access my bank account and that of my non-profit. The bank recorded the phone calls. It is Amanda Lollar pretending to be me giving them all that data. Fortunately the banks know I don't have a Texas accent. Lollar then calls back and pretends to have an English accent because she thinks I have an English accent. It's all on audio tape. I filed a police report. Since then many people tried to get car and home loans, credit cards using my information. I now have to get a new SSN.

3. I will not allow access to or give any of my gynecological or female records. I will not answer any gynecological questions or questions about my breasts. They have nothing to do with my back. Your client is already talking about my "vagina," "breasts" and "ass" on the Internet. Lollar is an almost 60 year old woman and is obsessed with me and mentally ill. She posted every transcript from my two depositions. I only posted two pages of deposition where she perjures herself many, many times. Lollar cut out the breasts of any photo she could find of me and made a collage of my breasts. I have friends emailing me "did you know some perverted crackpot made a collage of your breasts?!" Lollar paid a man to trespass, take illegal video of me then to hit me with documents all the while I'm saying I don't allow video and to get out. There was another man who snuck in the room to take video from another angle behind me. I didn't see him until I ushered the other guy out of the room. I had to file another police report. Lollar is using stills from that illegal video on the Internet. She photoshops a still of my head onto other people's bodies. Lollar photoshopped a photo of the Judge vomiting on my face. Lollar is seriously mentally ill.

4. Either no video will be allowed of the deposition or all video must be under seal forever. No hidden video cameras either like Lollar did last time. After the case is over all exhibits, depo videos must be destroyed. Same with deposition minutes. Your client made 300 movies out of my one depo video. She shared my confidential, personal, private information with the entire Internet. She embedded these videos in over 350 blogs and websites she made devoted only to me. All of my finances, permits, licenses, family, personal history is now on the Internet. She edited the videos to the point they are defamatory. I only posted one ten second video to show she perjured herself many times. I posted ten seconds of Turner just to prove he refused to look at any exhibits then fell asleep in his client's deposition. That's it.

5. I will give you all medical records related to my back from two years before the accident to the present. I will get the records then give them to you. I can't take a chance my doctor makes a mistake again and forgets to redact my SSN and other confidential info.

6. Only lawyers, court reporters, legal asst on the case may be in the deposition. There was no reason for all those other unrelated people to be in the room last time. No one may share what is said in the deposition except in court proceedings. Your client is posting everything about my deposition and hearings online then she makes shit up, i.e. "Mary is bald, Mary bent over and showed her gstring, Mary said Turner placed a bomb under her car..." Those things are totally and absolutely false besides crazy.

I will agree to these things both ways even though I'm not the one who is abusive with discovery. Again, I have never violated a protective order. Your client has violated every single one. I accidentally got Lollar's SSN yet never shared it. Your client got mine under seal and shared it. If Turner is not agreeable to this, then he and his client intend to use discovery to harass, oppress and abuse me again. That would be the only reason why he would not agree to this.

If you have any suggestions to help solve this problem, let me know.

Mary Cummins

I have spoken to Randy about this, and we cannot agree to any kind of blanket protective order relating to all discovery. We could agree to one covering medical records, subject to an agreement as to the terms thereof. We could also agree to one as to financial records and social security number. As to your position on financial/employment information, I had taken from your petition that you were claiming damages relating to lost wages/profits. We will agree to forego records pertaining to employment, your business(es), taxes and finances if you will stipulate:

- a) you are not claiming lost wages, earnings, or profits in this case due to your injury, and
- b) The injury did not affect your ability to earn money or make profits

Let me know your thoughts on this.

THANKS.

Importance: High

I will only give you medical records relative to my back for a couple of years before the injury to date. No gynecological records at all. They must be under seal for lawyer's eyes only. Defendants do not get to see them. I have the records already. I will redact all SSN, CDL, private, confidential, banking information. I would need a protective order or agreement before I release any documents. If Turner mentions these documents in deposition, Defendants are not allowed to be present, have the minutes or video. Turner and your clients are extremely abusive.

I will never give my tax returns or bank statements. Turner has tried to get them in the district case and was denied. He's now trying through the CA case but I have a hearing in a month to prevent that. My tax returns have nothing to do with my back. I'm not suing for lost salary as I did not have a salaried job. I'm suing for my back injury, cost for treatment, surgery...

Turner is again using discovery to try to harass, oppress, embarrass and bully me. Lollar posted my banking information online. I have not posted her banking information. Lollar posted all those videos of my deposition which reveal confidential and personal things such as my banking records. I have not done this to her. Lollar posted all the minutes from the depositions which reveal the same.

I have not sunk to the extremely low and abusive level of Turner or your clients. I could post all their private information including her SSN which I obtained legally but I have not. Turner, Lollar really need to think about their discovery requests very carefully. I will reply to his motion to compel with a motion for protective order and request for sanctions for discovery and motion abuse. I have a ton of evidence. The Judge already knows Turner is abusive based on my motion opposing his substitution of attorney. He is a witness and partner of BWS. He really shouldn't be the attorney in this case.

Having consulted with Randy on this, I regret I do not have authority to enter into any agreement that would in blanket fashion make all discovery responses confidential. I have flexibility as to medical records and certain sensitive financial records such as tax returns, but beyond that he is wanting a particularized showing of a document or information which would be responsive, and as to which a reasonable expectation of privacy would apply under the law, and he might then be willing to add those particular individual items to such an order.

The Exposed site has been updated. Here's a new page (Thank you, Rachel!)

<http://www.marycummins-exposed.com/#!false-reports/c168d>

Sent: Tuesday, June 4, 2013 12:00 PM
Subject: FW: Bat World Sanctuary Follow Up

Dear Ms. *****,

Please note that the referenced email from Dr. Gage is not, and has not been in the official file of Bat World Sanctuary. Ms. Cummins specifically requested it. As you mention in your email, our Agency looked into the complaint against Bat World Sanctuary. The Agency did not find any evidence of AWA violations and considers the matter closed. This determination was based, in part, on the Agency's (including Dr. Gage's) evaluation of the referenced video. The individual (Mary Cummins) then published select comments from the email on the Internet. In answer to your inquiry, Dr. Gage's title is Big Cat and Marine mammal Specialist. She does not work with bats.

Thank you for your interest in the welfare of animals.

Sincerely,

Robert M. Gibbens, DVM
Director, Western Region
USDA, APHIS, Animal Care

As promised, here is the proof that the roach knew ahead of time an email written by Dr. Laurie Gage existed, which the roach needed to help with her lies. Hmmm.... Collusion with BFF Jennifer Conrad and Dr. Laurie Gage of USDA?

http://batworld.org/?attachment_id=9275

Mary Cummins USDA should have given me that document in 2011 when I first requested it. I requested these docs again over two months ago so I could use it for my brief. USDA fought me on releasing these documents. Finally they gave me the email.

47 minutes ago · Like · 1

Brad Jensen I'm assuming FOIA requests were made? What was the USDA's reason for not releasing the documents the first time around? Pending investigation?

6 minutes ago · Like

Mary Cummins I made timely FOIA requests. I also sent subpoenas. Based on the date their "investigation" was over. Seems TX attorney was threatening everyone. He told the USDA he wanted them to change the word "investigation" to "fact finding." Talk about a cover up. And he's an animal rights attorney!

Not to belabor the point, BUT I have a question for the roach.
How is the squirrel? You know the one I mean. 1. attacked by hawks 2. fell 60' 3. hit every single branch during the free fall 4. unlucky enough to have a mother who was standing at the bottom of the tree and refused to take 'it' back and 5. ended up photoshopped to your thumb.
